After-Market Services

We fully understand the impact of lost production time, which is why we have a global team of over 60 direct service engineers and over 300 Loma trained and approved third party technicians who have a thorough understanding of the pressure on companies working in the food industry today.

The Loma team has been comprehensively trained to deliver a fast and effective response when issues arise. When a customer calls with a problem, Loma works to get the right engineer on site with the right parts as quickly as possible. Loma prides itself on having the best Response Times and First Time Fix Rates in the industry and we are continually improving our performance against these targets.

We offer a complete service, which includes:

- Break down response (both our equipment and competitors)
- Commissioning
- Performance verification
- Spares
- Technical enquiries
- Support for BRC and supermarket audits
- Refurbishments and upgrades
- Training
- Emergency spare kits
- Ongoing maintenance
- Machine Hire
